DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 10-21-2004 has been considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

3. Claims 1 and 3-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Hayward et al. The method of ordering by Hayward et al. teaches a replacement item information button coupled to the reproduction device, and in response to activating the button, producing a replacement item information document (Figures 4 and 7). The replacement item information comprises specific information needed to facilitate the ordering of the exact replacement items that are used by the reproduction device (column 6, line 28-48; column 7, line 54 – column 8, line 54). The document is in the form of a user perceivable display (Figure 4). The replacement items are consumables and supplies (column 7, line 54 – column 8, line 54). The reproduction device comprises a copier, printer, or facsimile. The replacement item information is in a non-volatile memory (Figure 2).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claim 2 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Prior Art

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Springett and Kurz et al. teach printing accounting logs that are resident on a printing device.
